1933 Honor Students Announced by Faculty

Eugene H. Miller Will Be Valedictorian; Salutatorian Part to Muriel E. Ingram

BOTH OUTSTANDING STUDENTS

The faculty has announced the commencement honor students for the class of 1933. Eugene H. Miller will be the valedictorian while Muriel E. Ingram will deliver the salutatory address.

Miller is the son of Dr. and Mrs. H. U. Miller, of Mt. Penn, Reading, Pa. He prepared for college at the Mt. Penn High School. He was a member of the "Weekly" staff for four years, serving as an associate editor for two terms, and is also an associate editor of the "1933 Ruby." Miller is also varsity debating manager, and president of the International Relations Club. He has recently been awarded a fellowship for history and international relations at Clark University.

Muriel E. Ingram was graduated from the Glen-Nor High School and lives in Norwood, Pa. She has been a member of the women's debating team for four years and took an active interest in music, playing in the string ensemble. Miss Ingram is also a member of Tau Kappa Alpha, national honorary forensic fraternity. These two students will deliver speeches on commencement morning. Both are candidates for honors work.

Y. M. AND Y. W. C. A. CONDUCT ALL-CAMPUS CONFERENCE

Two Day Program Offered by Christian Associations Meets With Favor

Interesting presentations of their subjects by the group leaders, exceptional student interest, and spirited discussion on the floor characterized the meetings of the first All-Ursinus Week-end Conference, sponsored by the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A., April 1 and 2.

Three discussion sessions were held in the Lecture Hall of the Science Building. "Can We Reconcile Science and Religion?", "Religion in Business," and "Religion in Politics" were the subjects discussed at these sessions. On Saturday evening a social program was presented in the gym which included movies, dancing and cards. On Sunday morning there was a worship service in Bomberger Hall, with a sermon by Jerome A. Wenner, '33, president of the Y. M. C. A. The conference officially closed with the Vesper Service in Bomberger Sunday evening.

Professors Brownback and Sturgis led the first discussion group, on the question of the reconciliation of science and religion. Stating that

Other Staff Members Selected; Stephenson and Schnebly to be Business Managers

WILL BEGIN AFTER EASTER

The Board of Managers of the "Ursinus Weekly" at a meeting last Thursday evening, selected Dwight L. Gregory '34 as editor-in-chief of the college paper for the coming year. At the same time David Stephenson '34 was chosen as advertising manager and John F. Schnebly '34 as circulation manager.

Gregory, who succeeds Alfred C. Alspach '33, is well suited for the position, having served as an associate editor of the publication during the last year. He was graduated from Hazleton High School, and is a member of Tau Kappa Alpha, national honorary forensic fraternity, the cross-country and track teams, and the Men's Student Council. He will assume his new duties immediately after the Easter recess.

David Stephenson secured his secondary education at the William Penn High School at York. He has been drum major of the college band and will manage that organization next year. In his position as manager of the supply store, he has gained considerable business experience which will be of value in his department.

Schnebly prepared at Mercersburg Academy. He will manage the cross-country team next season and was elected varsity manager of basketball for the coming court campaign. Both business heads will go into office in September.

He has wrestled in the 145 and 155 divisions. For the greater part of the past season, he was forced to the sidelines by a fractured rib.

Shear is Manager

The wrestlers will be managed next year by Lawrence V. Shear '34 of Trenton, N. J. His election has been approved by the Athletic Council, and he is already preparing the schedule for next season. Daniel Little '35 will be the junior manager.

VARSITY CLUB WILL HEAR CONNIE MACK AT BANQUET

Annual Dinner Meeting To Be Held at Freeland House; Many Distinguished Speakers

COLLEGE ORCHESTRA TO PLAY

With melodious strains escaping from the instruments of the Ursinus Collegians, thus furnishing suitable atmosphere, sixty or more undergraduate and many other graduate members of the Varsity Club will be seated before a bountiful board tomorrow evening in the main floor of the Freeland House.

Promptly at 6.30 p. m., coaches, lettermen, the Athletic Council, President G. L. Omwake, other campus guests, and the man that everyone came to see and hear—Connie Mack, will be ready to partake of the feast that constitutes the second annual banquet of the Ursinus College Varsity Club.

Much has been said of the main speaker in previous issues of this paper, and judging from recent campus conversation, it would be far from exaggerating to say that most students are envying Varsity Club members for their good fortune in being able to hear such an eminent individual as Connie Mack speak. BISHOP FRANCIS J. McCONNELL GIVES STIMULATING ADDRESS

Noted Methodist Clergyman Speaks on "Voices of Our Times"

"Educated people today should select the most essential elements of life, as it rapidly changes, and have little to do with the insignificant." That was the keynote of Bishop Francis J. McConnell's speech on "Voices of Our Times," which he delivered last Tuesday morning, March 28, at the chapel service.

Stating that people are questioning what were formerly considered fundamental truths in politics, philosophy, morals, and religion, the speaker showed that it is a period of varying conditions in which we are now living.

"The changing of fashions is beneficial. It shows that we are anxious to get out of a rut of thought into which we have fallen, that we are willing to try something new and again to set up ideals which my own generation found impossible to maintain. Although we should understand these intellectual movements as they come and go, we must wait for the test of time to work upon them." (Continued on page 4)

JUNIORS ANNOUNCE PLAY

Tryouts will be conducted this evening at 7.30 for parts in the annual Junior Class play. "The Ghost Train," by Arnold Ridley has been selected for production. This play ran successfully on Broadway and received much favorable comment from newspapers and dramatic critics.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Sibbald will coach "The Ghost Train." They have had much experience and success in directing plays and invite all members of the junior class to come to Bomberger Hall at 7.30 this evening for tryouts.

STUDENT COUNCILS TO SPONSOR ANOTHER INEXPENSIVE DANCE

On the evening of April 21 the Student Councils are sponsoring another of their inexpensive dances. The first of these, which was held not so long ago, was in the nature of an experiment. It proved to be so successful that the councils have decided to sponsor another.

Music will probably be furnished by the "Ursinus Collegians," and all who have heard them play know that they are developing into a really smooth band. Attend this dance! It is informal, costs very little, and promises an evening of fun. Remember the date, April 21. More details will be given later.

STICKMEN HOLD INITIAL OUTDOOR PRACTICE

First Game Scheduled With Villanova, April 20; Excellent Prospects For Season

EACHUS IS CAPTAIN

Jing Johnson trotted his entire ball squad out for the initial outdoor practice of the season on Wednesday, despite a bitter wind which prevented an intra-squad tilt.

Old Sol burned forth on Thursday for the first real day of spring, and Jing sent his tossers through a lengthy session in preparation for the opening game with Villanova, April 20, at the Mainliners' field. Coach Johnson, former A's hurler, divided the squad into two nines and held the first practice game, which was featured by heavy clouting on the part of both teams. Weis and Scholl belted homers.

Jupe Pluvius staged a comeback Friday, just when it seemed as if we were in for some real baseball weather, and another practice tiff was washed out. Due to early deadline, we cannot give further results, but more intra-camp games are on tap for the week-end and next week, weather permitting.

BRANSON DE COU TO BE HEARD IN MUSICAL TRAVELOG

Dream Picture of Old Mexico is Next Number on Culture Series

A musical travelog illustrated with colored photographs will be presented as the next feature in the series of cultural entertainments on the evening of Thursday, April 6. At that time Branson de Cou will entertain the students of Ursinus College with his "Dream Pictures" of Old Mexico.

The lecture will include a trip through Mexico City in May with illustrations of the famous Don Quixote Fountain, the National Palace, and sights recalling to memory Montezuma and Cortez. Descriptions of the national lottery, a bull fight, the pyramids of Teotihuacan, and the ruins of an Aztec city will be shown as Mr. De Cou takes us to Xochimico, the Venice of Mexico. Mexico's fire mounains of eternal snow, Popocatepetl and Ixtaccihuatil, will be visited. All these things will attempt to bring to mind the picturesque enchantment of Old Mexico.

David Warfield, one of America's most outstanding actors, after viewing this travelog, said, "I can not recall when I have enjoyed anything as (Continued on page 4)

EDITOR OF THIS ISSUE ALFRED C. ALSPACH

Editorial Comment

"THE OLD ORDER CHANGETH"

It is with extreme regret that we lay aside the editorial pen. One year ago we entered office with the intention of renovizing the system. We went in to paint the place red, and found out that someone had already done so.

Every editor on leaving office can not help but feel a deep sense of appreciation for the kind efforts of a loyal staff. There have been difficulties and trying situations, to be sure. Adversities are just challenges. To the staff we can give only praise.

We have been watching the development of the "greater Ursinus." We believe firmly in our College and have full faith and stand ever for her welfare. Some things have been said rather harshly, but "if the shoe fits, let them wear it." Much has necessarily been left unfinished. Here is where the new staff has a chance to show its merit and true worth.

The new editor and his associates are admirably fitted for the positions to which they have been chosen. Better choices could hardly have been made, but it is now up to them to show of what stuff they are made. This is the challenge. In this endeavor, we wish them only unbounded success.

"The old order changeth, yielding place to new."

THE ALL-URSINUS WEEKEND CONFERENCE

The Christian Association cabinets must be commended on the successful week-end conference which they sponsored. It undoubtedly took a lot of preparation but was well worth the effort.

Between sixty and one hundred and fifty students attended each session. This conference was merely experimental, according to the officers, but it has proven a success and will undoubtedly be continued next year. The faculty very kindly consented to take an active part in the discussions, and much help was derived therefrom.

More good can be done by such all-college conferences on the campus which everyone can attend than by sending one or two persons to some distant gathering. We feel that this is undoubtedly a step forward and the associations should be complimented on their foresight.

CO-EDS CLOSE SEASON

WITH DEFEAT AT ROSEMONT

Although the girls' basketball season wound up with another defeat at Rosemont on March 31st, the fighting spirit of the team never diminished. It was apparent that the Ursinus co-eds had met a more powerful team than themselves, but the Rosemont sextet were outplayed in the last quarter.

Captain Rhea Wheatley's playing was, as usual, outstanding, and she deserves much credit. Her "basketball sense" never left her during the game and her opponent had a difficult time in guarding her.

Rena Grim and Mary Rothenberger played the final game of their careers. Both have been mainstays on the Snell-coached combination for several years and their loss will be keenly felt next season.

The lineup:

Ursinus 13	Pos.	Rosemont 39
Grim	forward.	D. Bonniwell
Keyser	forward.....	Wenger
Rothenberger	center..	M. Bonniwell
Wheatley	side center...	Ianpink
Blew	guard.....	Creamer
Pfahler	guard.....	Kernan

Substitutions: Ursinus—Godshall, Francis, Ouderkirk, Grim, Keyser. Rosemont—M. Bonniwell, Foebe, Kinvan, Dundun, Stoll. Points: Ursinus—Grim, 7; Godshall, 4; Keyser, 2. Rosemont: D. Bonniwell, 17; Wenger, 14; M. Bonniwell, 8.

Second Team Game

The second team game was a speedy one, with Captain Iris Lutz displaying excellent guarding, and Lillian Barnett, Alice Richards, and Ruth Rothenberger sharing the scoring honors. This game ended with a 33-20 loss.

BROTHERHOOD OF ST. PAUL

MEETS AT TRINITY CHURCH

The Brotherhood of St. Paul held a meeting in the Hendricks Memorial building on Thursday evening, March 30, at 7.30. The president, Jerome Wenner '33, took charge of the meeting and the devotions were led by Gilbert Bartholomew '35. A paper on "The Faith of Honest Doubt" was read by Clair Hubert '33.

Plans for a banquet in the near future were discussed. Several new members were admitted to the organization. They are George Carvell, Ed. Fry, and William Solly, all members of the class of '36.

MEN'S GLEE CLUB ACTIVITIES

For several weeks the Men's Glee Club has been active in rehearsing for two prospective concerts to be held some time in April. Rehearsals are being held regularly every Wednesday noon under Miss Hartenstine's direction. The Glee Club has also been cooperating with the other musical organizations of the school in preparation for the Commencement Oratorio.

FROSH GIRLS DISCUSS

Mrs. George Berner of Collegeville addressed the second of a series of freshmen discussions held last Monday evening, March 27. Bertha Francis '35 presided over the meeting.

Mrs. Berner gave a short outline of the work the group should take up. She then devoted her attention to the personal problems of modern college coed.

The third of this series of discussions will be held next Monday evening when the group will be addressed by either a woman psychologist or a woman doctor.

THE MAIL BOX

To the Editor of the "Weekly":

In behalf the Christian Associations we feel it our duty to make a public expression of thanks to those members of the faculty who have co-operated in such a fine manner in making the "All-Ursinus College Conference" a complete success. Not only did some readily accept the responsibility of addressing the delegates at various sessions but others attended and made very valuable contributions to the thinking of the students in the open forums.

This spirit of hearty co-operation between students and faculty is one of the most valuable dispositions which should exist on any college campus. Therefore, we sincerely hope the students and faculty of Ursinus will continue to cherish this close relationship.

The Presidents of the Christian Associations.

REV. R. A. WAITE ADDRESSES STUDENT BODY AT CHAPEL

Associate Director of American Youth Foundation Presents Helpful Message

"When do people stop being 'They' and become 'We'?" With this question as the background for his message, Rev. R. A. Waite, of the American Youth Foundation presented an intensely interesting and helpful message to the student body at the chapel service on Wednesday morning, March 2, in Bomberger Hall. Mr. Waite, called "Dad" by hundreds of young people with whom he has worked in the past, used several fitting illustrations to convey the message which that question implies, and made clear that it was a question which will probably never be entirely answered.

Mr. Waite then told of a banker in the west, in a city of two banks. This man's bank is solvent, but he and his directors know that the town's other bank is not solvent. The lack of the much-needed "we" spirit is evidenced by the fact that, though the president of the sound bank wants to help save the other institution, his board of directors will not permit that action.

The concluding illustration was very interesting. It concerned the Minnesota-Illinois football game in 1924, when "Red" Grange, who, incidentally, was coached in high school by Mr. Waite, was starring for the Illim. The Minnesota team surprised everyone by defeating Grange's team, and the story, which the speaker heard from one of the victorious football players, showed what made that victory possible. The backfield men, due to campus fraternity politics, had not spoken to each other during the season. This lack of co-operation had caused the so-far mediocre season of the team. The night before this game the captain and one of the players had, at the captain's request, prayed for the game—especially for the needed co-operation. So touched were the other players by this incident that the backfield was brought into harmony and the game won. The speaker showed this to be the "we" spirit at its best.

WOMEN'S TENNIS SEASON WILL OPEN AFTER EASTER

The girls' basketball season having ended, tennis, as the favorite spring sport, will shortly take the prominent place in girls' athletics.

The prospects for the team are not yet certain. Although there are four varsity players remaining from last year—Rhea Wheatley, Marion Blew, Lillian Barnett, and Bertha Francis—the gap left in the team by "Billie" Strickler, number one player of '32, is considerable.

Competition will take place with Bryn Mawr, Swarthmore, Drexel, and Beaver Colleges, and the manager, Marion Blew '34, is attempting to arrange matches with Rosemont and also New York University. Any girls interested in trying out for the squad are urged to communicate with the manager immediately.

INVITATION COMM. APPOINTED

The senior class president, Jack Robbins, recently appointed the following committee to select the invitations for the graduation exercises: Aram Y. Parunak, chairman; Rhea Wheatley, Helen VanSciver, Matilda Umholtz, and Jack Reese.

John F. Schnebly '34 of Hagerstown, Md. was approved by the Athletic Council as Varsity Basketball manager for next season. The manager of freshman basketball for the 1934 season has also been approved. That position is to be held by James M. Wharton '34 of Kingston, Pa. Wharton is also business manager of the "1934 Ruby."

Lodge, Capt.-elect Sommers, Eachus, Paul, and Diehl. The men winning their letters in basketball for the first time are: Lawrence, Smeigh, Covert, Fisher, Johnson, W. Price, Mgr. H. Robbins, and Mgr. I think a special appeal should be made at this time to all friends of Ursinus to become especially active in the making of wills in favor of the College. The times are not propitious for large donations of money in gifts during life. People who may be disposed to give liberal sums of money are quite properly indisposed to sell any of their holdings in order to do so, and to donate the holdings themselves is not attractive because we are at present in the trough of the market. If prices rise, as they surely will, one may be able to make a considerably larger gift by simply waiting for a better market.

While this is the situation with regards to gifts, attention should be centered on bequests. This is important because in some way provision for the future of Ursinus must be made. It would be a most precarious policy to allow Ursinus College to stand unsupported by more ample resources in the presence of the larger sphere of service into which our institution has come and the reputation and standing which must be maintained.

Persons may need their money during life, but they can make no use of it when life here is ended. In planning the disposal of an estate one should always include some charitable cause as a beneficiary. Provision for dependents must be made and bequests in token of affection for descendants and friends are well made, yet the index of a genuinely benevolent heart is a wholly unselfish donation or bequest. Whether one's estate be large or small a certain proportionate share should be specified for charity.

I suggest a proportionate share purposely. It is frequently the case that wills designate specific amounts in the several bequests which they include. When property values are fairly stable over a long period of time this may be practicable, but in times of fluctuation it is better to divide an estate into fractional shares. In two instances since the present depression began, wills have been probated in which Ursinus College was a residuary beneficiary. But values had so shrunk that there was no residuum, and the intent of the testator was not realized. Whether the will be made in a falling or a rising market it is best to divide the estate into proportionate shares rather than into specific sums. Then all beneficiaries, whether individuals or charities, will share alike whether there be losses or gains in property values.

In every will there should be a proportional share designated for some institution existing for the public good, for every estate owes its very existence to the forces and influences of society at large, no matter how much one may think it has been accumulated by his own effort. It is on this principle that the state claims a part of every man's property at death. But the state is only one institution of society. Certainly as much as goes to the state should go to one or more of the benevolent institutions which make society safe for the individual.

This being the case, let us not fail to take care of Ursinus. Whether you be wealthy or not, put Ursinus into your will.

Will Demonstrate Glass Blowing at Chem. Society

Perhaps you're one of those individuals whose laboratory career has been just a smashing success. If you've ever wondered how anyone could possibly be nonchalant while making those delicate thingumabobs that you toss around so blithely, here's your chance.

This evening Mr. James Graham, the official glass blower of the University of Pennsylvania, will give a demonstrated lecture on the art of glass blowing. Mr. Graham is responsible for the many intricate pieces of glass apparatus used in the various laboratories of the University. During the course of the lecture he will make a Snyder refractory column and otherwise demonstrate his ability to fashion delicate apparatus from the white-hot glass.

The meeting, under the auspices of the Hall Chemical Society, will begin promptly at 7.30 in the auditorium of the Science Building.

ALUMNI NOTES

'23—The Rev. Herbert R. Howells is now associated with the Rev. Milton Harold Nichols, D. D., in the pastorate of the Arch Street Methodist Episcopal Church in Philadelphia. The services of this church are broadcast on alternate Sundays over Station WFI. Mr. Howells will be the radio preacher on Palm Sunday and on the Sunday following Easter.

The program of the Twentieth Annual meeting of Schoolman's Week meeting at the University of Pennsylvania, March 29-April 1 included a number of Ursinus participants. J. The question for discussion was: Resolved, that all inter-governmental war debts should be cancelled. The Oregon plan was used. H. ENGLISH CLUB DISCUSSES MODERN HISTORICAL NOVEL

Gladys Ulrich '33 presided at the meeting of the English Club at Glenwood Hall on Monday evening, March 27. The subject for discussion was the modern historical novel.

Sara Brown '34 read a paper on "Warton Mally" by Booth Tarkington, and Violet Wintersteen '34 reviewed Honore Willse Morrow's book "Beyond the Blue Sierra." Joyce Strickland, '34 read a paper on "A Lantern in Her Hand" by Bess Streeter Aldrich.

A period of discussion followed, in which it was brought out that even though these books are not outstanding historical novels, they do present a clear picture of the times which they attempt to depict, making the period vivid and real to the reader.

Coach Sterner Summons His Frosh Diamond Candidates

A horde of would-be ball players answered "Don" Sterner's initial call for frosh baseball practice Thursday afternoon. "Don" will have a job on his hands slicing the squad to fifteen who will be carried throughout the campaign.

Three of the five prospective pitchers are southpaws. Trumbore, Hyland, and Byer hurl from the port side, while Gaumer and Shibe are right-handers.

Old man ineligibility may aid Sterner in pairing down his crew. Also, weather permitting, Sterner plans games with the varsity.

Sterner is quoted as stating that the prospects of a winning ball club are favorable, and Jing Johnson, varsity coach, looking out for next year's squad, has his eyes on the three south paw frosh twirlers.

Modern Poetry Discussed

At Weekly Y. W. C. A. Gathering

Lighted by dim candles, the Recreation Room became on Wednesday evening the scene of a poetic Y. W. C. A. service. The members seated themselves in a circle to listen to the words of each other's favorite poet.

The meeting was opened by the singing of "Tell Me Why" and "Old Man Time." Troupiere Sipe '35, offered a definition of "poetry," which others in the group later illustrated through readings.

Those taking an active part in presentations were Dorothy Patterson '35, Elizabeth Maris '35, Troupiere Sipe '35, Sara Pfahler '34, and Louise Hartzell '35. The favorite poets of the evening turned out to be Selma Robinson, Emily Dickinson, Sara Teasdale, Edna St. Vincent Millay, and Lizette Woodworth Reese. All the well-chosen selections harmonized with the spirit of the gathering.

WOMEN DEBATERS CLOSE

A SUCCESSFUL SEASON

Final Encounters With Temple and Penn State

MRS. H. L. CARTER IS COACH

On Friday evening, March 31, the Ursinus women's debating team held a contest with Temple University in Bomberger Hall. The Ursinus women upheld the negative side of the war debt question. Miss Gladys Mayberry, college nurse, was the chairman. There was no decision.

Ursinus was represented by Maude Funk '35, and Frances Gray '33. The debate was in the Oxford style.

The women's debating season was brought to a close with a dual contest against Pennsylvania State College on Saturday, April 1. At the home contest Ursinus was represented on the negative side by Frances Gray '33 and Mildred Fox '35. Penn State representatives were Anne Reese and Jane Myx. The critic judge, Mr. David Thomas of Philadelphia, gave the decision in favor of the visiting team.

The Ursinus affirmative team was composed of Muriel Ingram '33 and Esther Lightner '34.

This debate was the culmination of a rather successful debating season. There were six contests during the season with the majority of the debates in the more interesting Oregon style. Most of the debates were dual and there was a mixed debate, both men and women participating.

Mrs. Carter was the capable debating coach.

VARSITY CLUB TO BANQUET

Mack's speech will be the highlight of the evening's program.

One of the important business functions of the evening will be the annual election of officers. The retiring president, Joseph Diehl '33, has appointed a nominating committee consisting of the captains of the various athletic teams on the campus, who have selected two individuals for each office. These will be voted upon tomorrow night. The officers of the retiring administration are John Reese, vice-president, and Irving Sutin, secretary-treasurer.

Will Elect Officers

Besides the election of officers, the other important function of the evening will be the initial presentation of permanent athletic certificates by the Athletic Council of the College. Dr. John W. Clawson, who heads the council, will present these permanent certificates to all lettermen of the 1932 graduating class, who will be expected, for the main part, to be in attendance at the banquet. Dr. Omwake, Rev. Dr. John Lentz, "Jing" Johnson, Joseph Diehl, and the newly-elected president will be expected to say a few words.

The menu has not been disclosed yet, but from all reports it seems advisable to warn club members to save a "large space" for the occasion. The committee in charge has been working faithfully in order to have the dining hall appropriately decorated, so that all those who attend may expect to have a perfect evening's entertainment as far as banquets are concerned. Connie Mack, music, good fellowship, and food—what more could any person want?

BISHOP McCONNELL SPEAKS

Reverend McConnell, Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church in New York City, recently completed a term as president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. He has written over a dozen books of wide circulation and many magazine articles. The audience felt privileged to hear this informing and witty speech by one of the foremost men in religious life.

STICKMEN HOLD PRACTICE

coming campaign, maintaining "that everything depends on the pitching," which is a very old story, and one which the Phillies have been wailing over for many a year! However, we're inclined to string along with Jing. Ursinus ought to produce the sluggers as last year, and if the twirlers deliver, ought to make the conference wake up and take notice.

More useless information: Drexel, Ursinus diamond opponent, and her quiescent Dragons, already in action, are touring the south. And that's just about all they are doing. They were nosed out 15-0 in one fray, and the Wake Forest Woodsmen slapped a 4-0 no-hit-no run defeat on them. Wake Forest employed three hurlers to achieve the perfect game win.

Y. FELLOWSHIP SERVICE

The World Fellowship committee of the Y. W. C. A. will sponsor a fellowship service and tea in the Trinity Reformed Church on the afternoon of April 23. Three foreign students from the Pennsylvania Inter-national house will feature the program. The exercises will begin with formal services which will be followed with the informal tea in the social rooms of the church. All are invited to attend. Huldah Myers '33 is chairman of the committee.

ALL-CAMPUS CONFERENCE

the "creed of the scientist" might be stated by using the letters of the word "Science" as initial letters of words. Mr. Brownback made "Sincerity", "Caution", "Independence", "Excellence", "Non-Denominationalism", "Creed" and "Evidence" as the words best expressing the scientific approach to religion.

Dr. Sturgis stated that the fundamental concept for the discussion was that "while Science reveals God more fully, Christianity brings us face to face with God." He pointed out that the revelation of God to the Christian is fuller than to the scientist, since the Christian gets his revelation through an inner conscience, through Jesus Christ. James Wharton, '34 led a spirited discussion.

In the afternoon session, when Marion Hageman, '34, was chairman, Professors Tyson and Bone spoke on the subject "Religion in Business," the first speaking of religion, the second of business. Mr. Tyson stated that Christ taught three basic concepts: first, the fatherhood of God, second, the brotherhood of man, and third, the value of the individual.

Likewise tracing briefly the development of business, Professor Bone brought out the fact that it is but an institution, and as such is responsible to those individuals who run it.

On Sunday afternoon Professors Willauer and Tyson spoke on the question "Religion in Politics." Mr. Willauer confined his discussion to that kind of religion which he described as a feeling within man. He said that the problem is to secure a moral renaissance, which involves the imparting by religion of faith, of standards and of fortitude necessary for life.

Prof. F. I. Sheeder, speaking from the viewpoint of religion, based his remarks on the principle that "every religious experience is the attitude toward the universe of each individual," and that politics is the systematic government of individuals in all relationships.

Social Evening in Gym

About one hundred and fifty persons were present for the evening of entertainment on Saturday. Dancing and cards followed the movies, with Gladys Ulrich, '33, at the piano. Professor and Mrs. Brownback, and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Johnson were the chaperones.

Sunday Chapel Service

"Religion and the Individual" was the subject of the sermon by Jerome A. Wenner, '33 on Sunday morning. The theme of the sermon was that, while people are "incurably religious," religion does not always cure people.

The Y. M. C. A. Chorus sang "My Task" by Ashford, and "Where Jesus Lives" by Parks during the service.

Evening Vespers

Norris Johnson, Jr., '36, led the Vesper Service on Sunday evening in Bomberger. He was assisted by Sarah Helen Keyser, '36, who read one of the two scripture selections, Charles Smith '36, reading the other one, and Elizabeth Kassab '36, who led in prayer. Iris Lutz '33, sang a vocal solo and Alfred C. Alspach '33 played the organ.

The committee in charge of the conference included: James Wharton '34, Claude Lodge '33, Wm. Tempest '35, Jerome Wenner '33, Helen Van Seiver '33, Marion Hageman '34, Martha Moore '34, Huldah Myers '33 and Dorothy Thomas '35.

The fact that six students were suspended recently from Simpson College because of their refusal to sign pledges that they would not violate the college rule against dancing accounted for the bombardment of A. V. Proudfoot, president of the college board of trustees. Proudfoot had just finished addressing the student body at the chapel exercises when eggs and oranges were thrown upon the stage. During the course of his talk he was interrupted several times by booing and the firing of blank pistols.
